ACKNOWLEDGMENTS. The writer wishes to thank all members of the Hoxie family and others who have generously given their time and interest in supplying information and advice in this work. Especial thanks are due and given to Miss Anne Hoxie of Shannock, R. I., for help in research in Rhode Island; to Mrs. Mabel G. Demers of Waterwille, Maine, for records in that State; to Mr. Floyd E. Hoxie of Genoa, N. Y., for data in connection with New York families. Two who have departed this life also deserve our appreciation, Mrs. Clara E. Hoxie of Waterville, Maine, and Mr. Jesse W. Hoxie of East Sandwich, Massachusetts.

SOURCES OF INFORMATION. To list all sources where data has been obtained would require several pages and would interest few persons. In addition to family sources, official State Vital Records have been copied in Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, New York, Michigan, California and several other western states, also town records in many New England towns. Many other records are from probate, pension and census sources. The writer has obtained many of these records personally, others have been copied by competent genealogists.

ACCURACY. While the writer has taken great pains to study and evaluate all data and evidence, some mistakes are certain to be made in a work of this scope and character. Mistakes were sometimes made in original entries, others in copying, memories of elder members of the family are sometimes faulty, public records are often incomplete, etc. We hope and believe that such mistakes will be minor in character. Where conflicting dates of birth are found, the one which seems the most authentic and reasonable has been used. Mistakes in grammar and composition will probably be found aplenty and can be ascribed to the writer's failure to acquire an education beyond grade school.

METHOD USED IN NUMBERING. The numbering method is, in general, similar to that used in the New England Historical & Genealogical Register. Each generation is considered in order, heads of families are assigned numbers with the exception of some who left no male heirs or where information was obtained after the system had been set up and number assigned. Thus, in each generation, descendants of Joseph Hoxie are given first, next those of Gideon Hoxie, then of Hezekiah Hoxie, John Hoxsie and Solomon Hoxie, in that order. In cases where a man married two or more times, the facts of such are noted in the entry where his life, occupation, family, etc., are described, but not in the entry where his birth is given together with the births of his brothers and sisters. To cite an example, in entry 16, John Hoxsie is assigned number 43 and the name of his first wife given. Turning to entry 43, it will be found that he married a second time. A word concerning finding your ancestry and assuming that you have found the entry about yourself; note the number given to your father, then turn the pages back to the preceeding generation until that number is found in the second row of numbers, that is, the numbers assigned to the children of your grandfather. In like manner, your line can be traced to the first generation.

FURTHER RESEARCH. It is the writer's intention to continue research and, if sufficient interest is shown, to issue a supplement or a second edition of this work, probably the former. Readers are urged to report births, deaths, marriages, bible and other old records to the writer, Mr. L. R. Hoxie, Ukiah, Oregon. Dated January 1, 1950.

THE HOXIE FAMILY, THREE CENTURIES IN AMERICA.

Lodowick Hoxie, the common ancestor of all persons surnamed Hoxie, as variously spelled, in the United States, arrived about 1650 and settled in the Town of Sandwich, in Plymouth Colony. When or where he was born is unknown. His ancestry has been stated by various members of the family to have been Scottish, Welsh, English and Dutch. There seems to be a widespread tradition among many branches of the family that we are of Scottish origin. It is to be hoped that further research will sometime definitely establish the time and place of birth of Lodowick Hoxie.

It is quite possible that the name Hoxie is a corruption of some other name, such as Hawkes. In fact, records of Lodowick Hawkes in Plymouth Colony records which have been published almost certainly refer to our ancestor, Lodowick Hoxie. In the original records, the name is variously spelled Hawkes, Hakse, Hackse, Hauksie, Hoxie, Hoxy and Hawksie. A family which may have an origin common with our own is spelled Hakes, being descendants of one Solomon Hakes. In a study of the Hakes family published in 1889, Mr. Harry Hakes discussed the possibility of the two families being closely related, but could find no authentic records to establish or disprove the theory.

A list of landholders in Sandwich in 1658 included the names Lodowick Hoxie and Edward Hoxy. No further record has been found of this mysterious Edward Hoxy. It seems safe to conclude that either he left no descendants bearing his surname, or that the spelling became changed.

Several versions concerning the parentage of Lodowick Hoxie have been advanced. One is that his father was one Joseph Hoxie, who settled in Reheboth, Massachusetts. Another gave his father as one Barnabas Hoxie. As the present writer has been unable to unearth authentic records to establish the facts, he feels that there is little to be gained by mere speculation.

In a short history of the Hoxsie lines written by Lyman Kenyon of Westerly, R. I., about 1888, the following statement is made concerning Lodowick Hoxie, "We first find him apprenticed to one John Dexter to pay for his passage to America. When his time was out with Dexter, who was a hatter, he established himself in the same business, at Spring Hill." The writer has been unable to verify this story, the only evidence bearing on the matter being that Thomas Dexter seems to have been the emigrant ancestor, a son John Dexter was born about 1660. Of course it is very possible that there may have been an elder John Dexter.

The Sandwich town records show that in 1657, William Bassett paid Lodowick Hoxie, for some service rendered the town, the sum of three shillings. Also, from Plymouth Colony records, among those who took the oath of fidelity in 1657, include Lodowick Hawkes.

In 1658, he had six acres of land laid out to him by the persons chosen by the town under order of the Court of New Plymouth, said order requiring the town of Sandwich to choose seven persons to view and set up bounds to every man's land and meadow, to prevent suits and trouble that might arise in regard to boundaries. This place once owned by Lodowick Hoxie was about midway between Sandwich and East Sandwich, on the south side of Spring Hill.

Lodowick Hoxie helped distribute powder to the militia and was one of the musketeers that went to Yarmouth to the general muster the first Wednesday in July, 1660. In 1661, he and two others were chosen raters (assessors) of the town.

On June 10, 1661, Lodowick Hoxie was fined twenty shillings for refusing to aid the marshall Barlow in the execution of his duties. Said duties are not explained, but appear to have been connected with the attempt of Plymouth and Sandwich authorities to destroy the Society of Friends, or Quakers. Thus it appears that Lodowick Hoxie became a convert to the Quaker faith at about this time, and later records show beyond doubt that for at least sixty years all members of the family adhered to the Friends.

Ministers of the Society of Friends made their first appearance in this country in the year 1657, about ten years after the beginning of the Society in England. They were Christopher Holder and John Copeland, who landed on the Falmouth shore on the 20th of the 6th month, 1657, and proceeded to the town of Sandwich. There they found fertile soil in the then unsettled condition of religion belief, and by 1658 there were about eighteen families in their flock. In that year, a regular monthly meeting was organized, being the first Friends organization in America. Severe persecution by Plymouth and Sandwich officials continued until about 1662, many adherents being forced to pay heavy fines for trivial offenses.

It appears that Lodowick Hoxie was disenfranchised as a result of his becoming a Quaker, at any rate, he again took the oath of fidelity in 1678, after being admitted a freeman on 23 Feb. 1675.

In 1686, the Colony laws being printed and ordered to be published in the several towns, Thomas Tupper and Lodowick Hoxie were appointed by the town to divide the law-books among the citizens "according to the last year's country's rate."

The last record we have of Lodowick Hoxie is dated the first month, 1704, at which time Robert Harper was appointed to build a new Friends meeting house for one hundred eleven pounds sterling, "except the glass, plastering and ground-pinning." One was to get the shells for lime, another wood, another stone, and Lodowick Hoxie to "Diet the carpenter, for his share."

Lodowick Hoxie married Mary Presbury in December, 1664. She was born at Sandwich the 10th of the 3rd month, 1644, daughter of John and Katherine Presbury. John Presbury was in Sandwich by 1643, he died 9 May 1648 and his widow married Richard Chadwell 22 July 1649. It is probable that there are no descendants bearing the Presbury name. Children of Lodowick and Mary Hoxie, born in Sandwich, Mass.:

It must be mentioned that records do not always agree as to dates and spellings of names. Where different dates are found, the one which seems most authentic or reasonable is used in this work. The same is true of spelling, which is made more difficult by the fact that in the eighteenth century, a man spelled his name as he pleased, though his father or brother might use another spelling. Thus came about the various ways of spelling the family name in use today.

Joseph Hoxie and John Hoxsie moved to Kings County, in Rhode Island about 1697, while the other sons stayed in Massachusetts. This in effect divided the family into Massachusetts and Rhode Island branches.

The first westward emigration of the Joseph Hoxie line occurred about 1760 when his son Zebulon Hoxsie moved to Dutchess County, N. Y. Present members of this line live principally in Rhode Island, New York, Michigan, Iowa and California, and constitute about one fifth of all Hoxies in America.

About the time of the Revolution, several of the John Hoxsie branch moved westward, to New York and Vermont, and by 1817 one family was living in Michigan. This branch is represented at present by families all over the United States except in the South, and comprises about one half of the total of those bearing the name Hoxie, Hoxsie, Hoxey or Hoxsey. In fact, it is among the families of this branch that the greatest diversity of spelling the family name occurs, it sometimes happening that brothers spell the name differently.

The descendants of Gideon Hoxie had moved into Maine and western Massachusetts by 1785, one family shortly afterward lived in Georgia. Those of this branch comprise about one fourth of all Hoxies at present, all use the short spelling except the southern branch.

Only one son of Solomon Hoxie carried on the name, this line has lived since 1782 in Maine and comprises only a few families.

Descendants of Hezekiah Hoxie are also few in number, this line is now divided between a Cape Cod branch and an Oregon branch, the latter being established by one Obadiah Hoxie, a forty-niner.

2. JOSEPH HOXSEY 2 (Lodowick 1) was born at Sandwich, Mass. 15 March 1667, and died in 1727; will dated Westerly, R. I., 30th- 6mo- 1726, probated 26 June 1727, named wife Sarah, eldest son Joseph, second son Gideon, daughter Mary to whom he gave his negro girl Hannah, sons Lodowick and Zebulon, and daughter Ann. He married Sarah Tucker, daughter of Henry and Martha of Dartmouth. Joseph Hoxsey was admitted townsman at Sandwich 15 Jan. 1694. About 1697, he and his brother John moved to Rhode Island, Joseph settled on what is now the dividing line between Charlestown and South Kingston, John in that part of Westerly now called Richmond. Children's births are recorded in North Kingston, which was later divided into North and South Kingston. Moving to Rhode Island about the same time was the Perry family; Samuel Perry was a brother-in-law to Joseph Hoxsey, having married Mary Tucker, sister to Joseph Hoxsey's wife. Note from Samuel Tillinghaust's diary, "Mrs. Hoxsie, mother of John Greene's wife, died March 6, 1758." Benjamin and John Green were brothers of Rev. Nathaniel Greene, father of Gen. Nathaniel Greene.

He lived on the "old lot" at Spring Hill, near the brook, east side, which he bought of one John Briggs. Oxford University 1614, to America 1635, founder of Barnstable, later of Yarmouth and York, Maine. Clergyman, Deputy to General Court 1638. His son Tristram Hull was the father of Joseph Hull, whose daughter married John Hoxsie. John Hoxsie married second, in 1736, Ann Richmond, who probably brought him no children. She was very active in the Friends affairs. John Hoxsie was made a freeman at Westerly 1727, served as Justice 1733-36. There is no record to be found of a presumed second marriage. He married next Sarah Robinson, of Falmouth, 8 Feb. 1723/4. She died 18 March 1735, and he then married 6 Dec. 1737, Dorothy (Clifton) Wing, widow of Samuel Wing. She died 8 July 1750 and he married lastly, on 21 Jan. 1754, Jemima Sherman, who survived him. 15. JOHN HOXSIE 3 (John 2, Lodowick 1) was born 11 April 1704 in that part of Westery, R. I. now called Richmond. The data following is from a family Bible printed in 1752, once owned by Rhoda Seymour, daughter of Jeremiah and Rhoda Tefft, and the dates are presumed to have been entered by Mercy Hoxsie, wife of John Hoxsie. The first eight children were born in South Kingston, the last two in Newport, which indicates that the family moved to Newport about 1753. John Hoxsie probably died soon afterward, as Friends records show that his brother Solomon raised at least one of John's daughters. John Hoxsie's birth is given in the above mentioned Bible as 10 Feb. 1706.

He married first, Deborah Babcock, 17 Oct. 1728, daughter of Job and Deborah (Reynolds) Babcock of South Kingston. Joseph Hoxsie appears to have been the first family to break away from the Friends faith, marrying a Baptist and probably becoming one himself. He married second on 23 April 1761, Alice Weeks, of Warwick. There has been some doubt as to whether Alice Weeks married Joseph Hoxsie or his son Joseph. The following note taken from Richmond, R. I. Land Evidence (3-177) seems to settle the question. "Alice, widow of Joseph Hoxsie, deceased, released her dower rights in lands belonging to her late husband, to Jeremiah and Elijah Hoxsie." Interest also conveyed to Joseph, Job, Mary, John and Thomas. Joseph Hoxsie was made a freeman at Westerly, 4 May 1736. Elected fence viewer and surveyor of highways upon organization of Charlestown, 1738. Justice of the Peace 1741-43. Elected to town council upon organization of Richmond, 1747. He married on 25 May 1734, Mercy Davis, daughter of Peter and Mary Davis, and sister of Peter Davis, a well known Quaker preacher. Solomon Hoxsie was himself a leading light in Friends affairs, an overseer, often entrusted with important matters. In 1769, Solomon Hoxsie presented a paper to the Meeting (Friends) in which he gave an account that he "suffered one of another Society to keep company with and also to marry his Brother John Hoxsie's daughter whom he brought up, which conduct he freely condemned and desired Friends to pass it by, which paper he is desired to read at the end of First Day Meeting where he attends and return it to our next Monthly Meeting." To which Caroline Hazard commented in her book, "Narragansett Friends Meeting Records." "It makes a curious picture, a man universally respected and honored, often charged with the grave concerns of the Meeting, standing up at the end of worship and reading his own condemnation for allowing his niece to marry as she wished." The reader is urged to read the book mentioned above, and also another book by Miss Hazard, "Anchors of Tradition," which contains a story about Solomon Hoxsie and his work among the Friends.

In 1781, he enlisted in the Albany County (N. Y.) militia for a land bounty right. In 1787, he and other settlers from Rhode Island living in Little Hoosuck, N. Y. petitioned the State of Vermont for a grant of land. It appears that they had backed Vermont in her dispute with New York over jurisdiction of the area where they lived; when New York won the dispute, the settlers found themselves unwelcome. In 1792, we find Frederick Hoxie and other Rhode Islanders at Alburg, Vermont, where he was named a fence viewer upon organization of the town. Much friction was caused because of the organization of the town, as the English had a garrison there, claiming it a part of Canada. In 1808, Frederick Hoxie and others were tried for treason, as a result of their activities in smuggling wood barges over the line into Canada. They were acquitted. He served as a volunteer in the Battle of Plattsburg in Sept. 1814, was captured by the British, but escaped and finally made his way to Detroit, Michigan. He and son Job worked there on the farm of General Lewis Cass, later founded the town of Romeo, Mich., first called Hoxie Settlement. He was spoken of by early settlers at Romeo who knew him as a man of violent character, and one man wrote, "Not a few were the marvels recited of this old man, and to us who gazed upon his features in life, there never was a wish by one of us that he should reappear, especially when we were passing by his resting place at night."

793-1. HIRAM HOXIE, a botanic physician, said to have come to America from Scotland at the age of 23 and settled in Ashtabula County, Ohio. From a study of family names, etc., the writer is inclined to believe that Hiram Hoxie is of the Joseph 2 line, related to John Hoxie, No. 135 in this volume. There have been several cases where an ancestor was thought to have been born in England or Scotland, further research has invariably proven that they were born in Ameica. It is said that he came to Adrian, Mich. in 1836 with three brothers, one moved to Traverse City, on to Ithaca, another stayed in Adrian. This would seem to indicate a relationship to Leonard and Ezra Hoxsie, see 158 and 159. However, we lack positive proof of such kinship, if any. Alexandria Hoxie married Jan VanAlystine, probably in New York. Children, born Adrian, Michigan;

i. ORVILLE D., b. about 1840, killed in Civil War.

796-1. JACOB HOXIE was born about 1835 in Michigan. Parentage is unknown but evidence we have indicates relationship to the Hoxie families of Hillsdale County, Michigan. See numbers 66, 146 and 147. It is the writer's belief that Jacob Hoxie is a son of either William or Leonard Vincent Hoxsie. Jacob Hoxie served in the 20th Iowa Infantry in the Civil War, home address given as Vinton, Iowa. It appears that he married twice, his first wife was Bridget Anne, his second, Sarah. The first marriage ended in divorce, he and his second wife lived in or near Sioux City. The list of children below is probably incomplete;

i. SHERMAN. A Sherman Hoxie, age 73, lived in Santa Cruz, California in 1946, had lived 22 years in California.

iii. DAISY, m. Ole Peterson, res. Vinton, Iowa.

798-1. FREDERICK HOXIE and Alice Hadway, given in Michigan vital records as parents of George Frederick Hoxie, below. His birthplace is given as London, England, 4 April 1850. As the surname Hoxie is not listed in any English compilations and considering the fact that one Frederick Hoxie (see No. 103) was in the Detroit area as early as 1817, the writer is of the opinion that the Frederick Hoxie who married Alice Hadway is of this family line.

798-2. GEORGE FREDERICK HOXIE (see above) was born 4 April 1850, died at Detroit 12 Aug. 1920. In the death record, his birthplace is given as London, England. Inasmuch as the writer has not been able to contact any member of this line, he is listing below just what records he has on file.

800-2. JAMES HOXIE, son of William, above, was married three times. First to Eunice Pitcher in 1837 who brought him a daughter Mary G. Hoxie. She died in 1839 and in 1841 he married her sister, Charlotte Pitcher. We have no record of her death but in 1845 he married Mary Avery, of Plainfield.

801-1. IRA CHARLES HOXIE evidently came to California during the gold rush. The writer is inclined, by reason of use of the name Ferman given to a son, to believe him to be of the Capt. John Hoxie line. See numbers 43, 111 and 112. He married Mary Ann Grist, daughter of Isaac Grist and Irene Kasson Grist. It is probable that this was a second marriage, as Wesley Hoxie is called a half brother of Ferman. Mary Ann Grist was born 4 June 1855 at Covelo, California, died there 13 Jan. 1932. Children of Ira Hoxie, first by first wife, others by second wife, Mary Ann;
